Explanation on No Executables

Hello Professor,

Hope you are doing well at the time you read this.

We would have liked to package our website application into executables as you requested but unfortunately we had run into problems doing so.

We have tried using pkg and nexx to create an executable, but ran into errors in doing so.

In replacement of an executable, we will go in detail on how to install/use the software in both the README file and the User Manual, and will make it as clear as possible.

We apologize for this inconvenience and hope that this is okay.

If there are any concerns, please reach out to us.

Thank you,

Team Kachow
